WAYCROSS, May 18 .- The hanging of Henry Knight at this place this morning drew here an immense crowd of negroes from all parts of this and adjoining counties. The condemned man was brought here from Savanrah jail on Toursday and kept closely guard-on During the night he spent much time in one, that he had forgiven all. singing and praying. This morning he appeared in cheerful spirits, displayed no nervousness, and dressed himself, singing snatches of revival hymns. At twelve o'clock he was taken to the place of execution, about a mile and a quarter from the thickly settled portion of the town, a quarter of a mile from the railroad. An ordinary gibbet was erected. He ascended the scaffold with a firm step and made a rambling speech of fifteen minutes. He exhorted the young people of his nature.

THE CROWDS IN THE CITY.

There are fully six thousand people in the town, mostly negroes, and the news of the governor's refusal to interfere was received with great enthusiasm. The gallows was erected about a mile from the town, and placed in such a position that it could be seen by thousands, being in a valley surrounded by three hills. Its consists of two upright beams with a cross bar at the top. The platform is seven feet from this beam, and nine from the ground, and is reached by steps leading from the back. The trap is placed directly under the beam, and is worked by a rectly under the beam, and is worked by a trigger pulled from under the platform. The rope is a ¾ inch manilla 20 feet long.

Your reporter was in the jail with the prison-for about an hour before the march to the gal-lows. Jones said he had nothing to say, that he did not have time "but I want you to un-derstand that if I break down on the stand, it

He continuously glanced nervously at the door, and wanted to know what so many armed men were doing there. He called "Booker," the negro attendant at the jail, "Booker, the hegro attendant at the jair, and said he wanted him to go with him to the gallows, and glancing at the reporters, asked, "if they were taking all that foolishness down." "But you may do it. Let the people know Booker. They aiready know me well enough." He complained that he had never had an education, and said that if he had he would have been a swart man. Your had he would have been a smart man. Your reporter asked him where he had concealed the piece of tin with which he had attempted to commit suicide. "In the facing of my pants sometimes," he replied, "and at others in the cover of my Bible. That is why I say Sheriff Doster can't be blamed, for he would

THE LAST JOURNEY.

At 12 o'clock he ate a hearty dinner, consisting of four soft-boiled eggs, some toast and crackers, and asked for a milk punch. He then dressed for the last time and soon appeared in a neat black suit with slippers, standing collerand a white tie. He talked appeared in a heat brack stitt with sinpers, as standing collar and a white tie. He talked and augh d for awhile and asked the guard to clear the jail. earth. Jones said: "Gentlemen and fellow-citizens: I am a condemned man by the law, to suffer for a crime. I have never spoken publicly before, especially to so large a crowd, and I do not feel as if I can now do myself justice. It may be that many of you may be called upon to answer the same call that I am. You do not know what will become of you. I warn you against all passions and malice that will lead you to any such end as this. While in prison, I devoted all my time to show that the crime for which I now suffer was not deserving death. I did not succeed, hence I sought a method by which I might end my own life. It was but self defense and I attempted it." It was but self defense and I attempted it."
He here sat down and ssked for some water and talked a while with Mr. Gibson, who arose and said that Jones had requested him the railroad. An ordinary gibbet was erected. He ascended the scaffold with a firm step and made a rambling speech of fifteen minutes. He chorted the young people of his race to lead better lives and to meet him in glory in the sweet bye and bye. At precisely half-past 12 o'clock the trap was sprung, and with a dull thud the body sprung out dangling in the air. There were several violent convulsions of the body and then it became still. At twelve minutes or F. C. Folks examined the body and tren it became still. At twelve minutes or twe scut down and delivered to his family. It was found that his neck was broken. After the execution the large crowd quietly dispersed.

Early in the spring of 1882 a number of corred people living at Taylor's Still, in this county, organized a brass band and employed at the still, when Hunter arrived. Previous to giving instructions he called on the members to pay their fees. When Knight was approached he became greatly enraged, refused to pay, and going off tried to pawn his watch.

Joseph C. Cohen was born in Griffin, Spalding county, Georgia, in January of 1858. His parents were poor, and the family, consisting of the mother and father, Joseph, one other son and a daughter, eked out a meager livelihought of in the county. The negroes generally were delighted with the verdict, and expressed gratification that Knight should pay the penalty of his cowardly crime. It was considered the most cold booded murder ever committed in southwestern Georgia.

He was perfectly rational, and talked about hissentence. His system had undergone a tremendous shock, and he seemed to be awed by his approaching death. The sheriff arrived at about ten o'clock with the governor's reply, and immediately notified the prisoner. Your reporter was with him in the jail at the time. Sheriff Doster went to his bedside and told

THE FIRST TROUBLE.

The love dream of the young wife was soon dispelled; the halo, which innocent fancy had woven around her husband, dropped from Joshep Cohen; and she awoke to the fact that her husband was less man than demon. His caresses were turned into here. mon. His caresses were turned into barsh words; the harsh words into harsher blows and the man led his wife an awful life. En and the man led his wife an awful life. Entreaties, prayers, tears were all unavailing, and his treatment of her grew from bad to worse. The abandoned character of Jones, or Cohen, was more plainly shown when one day he made a brutal attack upon his nother-in-law and sought to commit a most loathe-some crime upon her person. For this attempt he was arrested, but by some means escaped punishment. He then left the country and went to Arkansas. Here he lived by engineering and doing carpenter work, of which trades he had managed to pick up a smattertrades he had managed to pick up a smatter-ing knowledge. While here he wrote a touching appeal to his wife, in which he vowed his disposition was altered, and be-seeching her to come to him. Strangeness of woman's whims, she went. A few months and the wife's happiness was again marred by the display of her husband's uncontrolable passion. The wife left him and returned to Georgia and her mother. The two were living happily together, flattering themselves they were forever rid of Jones, when he appeared upon the scene. He visited the home of the two and sought his wife to come back to him. She refused and repulsed his overto him. She refused and repulsed his over tures for reconciliation. All the animal of his nature was aroused. He sought again and again his wife and met as often with refusal This but fired the stubborn self-will, and he made open threats that he would have his wife

Wednesday, the 14th day of March, he went to Athens, and while there purchased a pistol, and returning, on the next day sought again the wife's home. His advances met with the same emphatic answer from the now terrified woman, and he left the house in a towering passion, declaring the next time he came he would bring his wife with him. The two women now were thoroughly terrified and sought the advice of friends, beseeching them for protection. On the afternoon of the following day, Friday, Jones again visited the neighborhood and secreted himself at a pring each the house presumably with the as tanding collar and a white tie. He talked and isangh d for awhile and asked the guard to clear the jail. All moved towards the door, but he beckoned the reporters back and told them they could stay, that he would spend his last hours with them. He stated that he had been wronged, and that he wanted the reporters to give him justice at the gallows. At 10 clock the sheriff came for him, and taking him in his buggy began the march to the gallows, about a mite distant. Fully 3,000 people flocked after the buggy, and as many more covered the surrounding hills at the gallows.

He ascended the steps with a firm tread, and glanced with an un wavering look at the crowd. Rev. John G. Gibson, a Baptist minister, rose and asked the attention of his hearers to the remarks that Jones would make. He could not speak loud as he was sick and exhausted, and was a fellow mortal who would soon leave this.

The the following day, Friday, Jones and his wife when shimself at a spring near the house, presumably with the intent of forcibly abducting his wife when she with the house and boldly with the intent of forcibly abducting his wife when she with the house and boldly or entered it. The two women screamed with the terror. He roughly ordered the mother from the room. She refused to go, and drawing a pistof from his poacet, he flourished it over his head and commanded her to go. She went, and hastened at once to a neighbor's for assistance. What transpired between Jones and his wife no one knows, but it is presumed he urged her to go with him. As safe did so Jones fred, who would soon leave this and she etclared that she hated it. Twice since the reduce of the policy of the reporters to give him the trend that he had been wronged, and that he had been wronged it, she did not come, and Jones growing impatient, walked up to the house and boldly the trend. The sound had been troom. She refused to go, and drawing a pistof from his poacet, he found had come for the room. She refused to go. She refused to go. She refused to go. She refu and Jones started to run but turned and again fired. As the men reached him he fired again, the ball penetrating the forehead of his wife. She reeled over and almost instantly died. A fierce struggle ensued between Jones and the men, he firing his pistol at one of them, the ball grazing the forehead. He was overpowered and carried before a magistrate, who remanded him to jail

THE TRIAL AND CONVICTION.

The news of the dreadful deed flashed like wild fire over the county, and the excitement was great. Open threats were made by many of taking the law into their own hands and meting out of speedy justice to Jones. A guard was placed over him, but still two attempts were made to lynch him. When the trial came on, at the April term of the superior court, the excitement grew worse, and anonymous notes of a threatening character anonymous notes of a threatening character were sent to the judge and the attorneys in the case. Strong legal talent was arrayed on either side and the fight for life was a bitter one. Insanity was pleaded by the prisoner's counsel, and the testimony consumed two days, during the whole of which the court-days, during the whole of which the courtroom was crowded with spectators. Late Saturday evening the judge gave his charge to the jury. The charge was an impartial review of the facts. The jury remained out one night and returned ou Sanday morning a verdict of 'guilty.' The judge sentenced the prisoner to be hanged on the 18th day of May. While the death sentence was being passed Jones stood up bravely and seemed unmoved, look-await his death. There he was visited by ministers, who sought to soften him, but they found him intractable. He firmly asserted that he would not be hung, and on the Saturday before his death sent three letters to Governor McDaniel setting forth his reasons for a respite. He claimed in extrapration of his respite. He claimed, in extenuation of his crime, that he believed that his mother-in-law was a bad woman and killed his wife to save her from a worse fate. He said he loved her fondly and devotedly, and believed that a life time of servitude would fully atone for his misdeeds. He said that there were crimes worse herrible in the sight of God than more more horrible in the sight of God than mur-der, and he felt he had done right.

Meanwhile, groups of women which had gathered outside the prison were on their knees saying the litany for the dying. When the black flag, announcing that the execution had taken place was, hoisted over the prison, every man in the crowd outside, which numbered barely 1,000, uncovered his head, and murmurs of sympathy with Curley

HASTINGS'S HOROSCOPE. Rugh Hastings's Novel Ideas About Democrati

Boston, May 18.—The real significance of John Kelly's recent visit to Lowell, his dining at Ben Butler's residence, and the fact that Governor Butler presided at the meeting where Mr. Kelly delivered his lecture, are just beginning to be grasped by the leaders of the democracy. A number of magnates of that party have been coming and going, and from those your correspondent has seen here in Washington the unanimous impression is expressed that the hobnobbing beexpressed that the hobnobing be-tween the two men really meant business, and that Kelly's accepting Butler's hospital-ity and Butler's courteous attentions meant something more than appeared on the surface. Mr. Kelly, with that political forethought that has made him the leader that he is, was not long in de-termining Ben Butler's prominence and availability as a candidate, and was equally availability as a caudidate, and was equally prompt in trimming his ship accordingly. A leading democratic politician of Indiana said "John Kelly could not have done a better act at a better time." The very men who helped to elect Pattison in Pennsylvania and Cleveland in New York,

THE IRON MEN.

A Heated Discussion of the Interests of the Trade-Workmen Fearful of a Lockout.

MILWAUKEE, May 18. — The employes of the Bayview rolling mills, being in straitened circumstances fear a prolonged shut down on June 1st, and there are murmurs of dissent in regard to the action of the Amalgamated association. The men claim they can work under general laws, but the difference in the locality of the works calls for different laws regarding the detailed action. They say the Pittsburg men are willing to close on account of the hot weather that begins there in June, but men here do not suffer until July or Au but men here do not suffer until July or August and want extra month's pay. The Pittsburg mills have an old stock of usually unsalable iron on hand, but the mills here have no such resources to fall back against. There is a strong feeling t'at the time of making the Bayview agreement should be changed to July 1st or August 1st, and it is probable that a rupture in the union will be caused. Absolute necessity is driving the men at Bayview to look matters squarely in the face, and they feel that the action of business is booming and they can see orders daily refused which they might work on and make living wages for the summer, but for the action of the union leaders.

PITTSBURG, May 18.—President Jarrett of the Amsigamated association said last night that they would present last year's scale to the manufacturers, and if it was not signed by June 1st, a strike would certainly take place, and the association, would, make no concess. and the association would make no concessions. The manufacturers are equally determined, and assert positively that the scale will not be signed unless the workmen submit to a reduction. The outlook at present is not favorable for a settlement of the troubles between the iron manufacturers and the work. tween the iron manufacturers and the work-men, and a general shut down of the mills on June 1sf at this time appears inevitable. In an interview to-day President Jarrett said the last conference between the manufacturers and workingmen had been held, and nothing remained but a strike. He said that if the association agreed to the reduction he would resign. The suggestion that the mills close for the summer and pay last year's scale next fall, he said was not feasible, as the country was so large that July in one place would be hot, and in another place enjoyably cool. Besides the sizes of the iron were changing continually, and therefore nestock changing continually, and therefore no stock could be made. Secretary Weeks of the iron association, said that the manufacturers were prepared for an indefinite suspension of work. He admitted that the mills were rushed with orders, but said that the consumers of the iron were rushing in orders because they be iron were rushing in orders because they be lieved that the works would be stopped and the wage dispute between the coal miners and the operators, as the coal trade will suffer more than any other industry, and the min-ers will be compelled to accept the three cent

THE RELIGIOUS BODIES.

Heated Discussion Among the Young Men's Chris. MILWAUKEE, May 18 .- At a meeting to-day of the international committee of the Youn Men's Christian association, a heated discus ion was awakened by a resolution which had reference to the acceptance of a charter from the state of New York, and to the make up of the international committee. The delegates from Indiana and Missouri objected to having the international body located in New York state. A prolonged struggle foilowed, interupted finally by President Colby, who suggested that they should join in prayer and ask aid in solving the difficulty. After a half hour of devotional exercises, the discussion was resumed and became more discussion was resumed and became more heated than ever. But soon after noon the resolution was carried. DISASTROUS FIRES.

A Vessel Burned and Several Lives Lost-An Employe Cremated.

HARTFORD, Conn., May 18.—The steamer Granite State, which runs between this city and New York, was totally destroyed by fire this morning while approaching the dock at Goodspeed's landing, forty-one miles below Hartford, on her way to this city. She was coming into the dock when the fire broke out. The flames spread so rapidly that nothing was saved. Five lives are known to have been lost, four by burning and one by drowning. The drowned person was Mrs. C. L. Maime, who with her husband jumped overboard into the river. Her husband reached the shore and an effort was made to bring the steamer to the dock but the fire spread with-such rapidity that it was impracticable. Her stern was ity that it was impracticable. Her stern was swung in, however, and most of the crew and passengers jumped from the burning steamer to the wharf, while some jumped into the river and swam ashore. It is not known, however, how the fire originated. The bodies of all the persons burned cannot be identified. One body has been recognized as that of the second cook, named Jackson. Of the persons burned two are supposed to have been emigrant passengers. Nine horses were also DeKalb News: Mr. Charles F. Shumate is the champion bull-frog shooter of Georgia. On Saturday 5th instant, while at the picnic at Fowler's mill, he killed thirteen frogs. He and all his family were so delighted with them that he went again last Thursday, to Freeman's ponds, and in a few hours killed thirty-seven fine fellows. He says it was not a good day for frogs either, as the pond was low and he refrained from shooting many he saw in easy range because of the difficulty of getting them out of the mud.

Gwinnett Herald: On last Thursday Mr. A. L. Sammons, of this county, went into the woods on his father's place and shot at a squirrel. While reloading his gun he heard a strange noise, followed by a rustling in the leaves and cracking of the bushes. Watching in the leaves and cracking of the bushes. Watching in the direction of the noise, he discovered an enormous snake moving rapidly towards him, with its head reared up from the ground about three feet high. On it came with a bellowing noise until it was within diffeen steps of where he stood. Sammons debated whether he should shoot, run or climb a tree. Before he had decided, the snake discovered him and stopped, lowered its head to the ground and lay still watching. Sammons movements who determined to shoot it. Moving forward a few feet to a log he took aim and fired, the load entered about the middle of its body. The wounded snake lashed the ground with its head and rail in its effort to advance, but was so badly crippled that it could not drag its weight along. After it had worn itself down, he killed it with stones and brought it home. It was seen by several persons who agree that it was the largest snake they ever sew. It measured seven feet in length and eight or ten inches around the body. It is of the species known as bull snakes, that were frequentiv seen in the early settlement of the country, but are not often met with now. They are so called on account of the peculiar noise they make when running through the woods.

Cartersville Free Press: Now that the Cooper property consisting of 1,600 acres manganese and iron ores, with the greatest water power in the south, has been sold to a live company of capitalists, we may look for practical uses to be made of the water power and the minerals. Hundreds of thousands of dollars of these ores awits the muscle and energy of the new owners. Success to them.

Impure Lager-Beware of Bright's Dis-

Those who indulge in lager beer cannot be too careful with reference to its quality. Lager is a frightfully prolific source of that malady, Bright's Disease of the Kidneys. Fortunately, lager drinkers now have their antidote. It has been incontestibly proved that Birght's Disease, and all diseases of the kidneys, bladder, liver, and urinary organs are curable by the use of that infallible kidney and liver medicine, Hunt's Remedy.

Failing!

That is what a great many people are doing. They don't know just what is the matter, but they have a combination of pains and aches, and each month they grow worse. The only sure remedy yet found is Brown's Iron BITTERS, and this by rapid and thorough assimilation with the blood purifies and enriches it, and rich, strong blood flowing to every part of the system repairs the wasted tissues, drives out disease and gives health and strength. This is why Brown's Iron BITTERS will cure

Do the farmers notice that every important industry except agriculture is organized for its own interest and protection? Why cun't the farmers organize for the protection of the most important industry in the whole union? There are very many questions, notably that of laber, stock, fences, etc., which might be decided with considerable profit to the agriculturist. Those interested, should think of this, and give it such attention as its importance deserves.

Messrs, J. C. and E. C. Schofield presented us with a mess of cucumbers (13 in number) on the Sth inst. These gentlemen are experimenting largely in truck farming a short distance from Eastman and from present indications give promise of fine success. They are young men, the sons of Mr. Clarke N. Schofield, an experienced hotel man, and for two seasons was proprietor of the Uplands hotel, of our town. These young men have engaged in truck farming as a matter of choice. We mention this at greater length because it is a matter of such rare occurrence that young men will leave a town or city, and engage in what so many city chaps term "the hum drum life of a farmer." It often happens that farmers sons seek employment in the towns and cities, but as above stated the reverse seldomly occurs. domly occurs.

THE CLERGY.

PAINFUL CASE OF TETTER

I have for 25 or 30 years been a sufferer from DRY TEITER. It developed itself on different portions of my body, extending to my feet and hands, causing them to itch intolerably and to crack. It was so painful that I was compelled to wear India rubber gloves day and night for months at a time. After consulting the best physicians, and using all the remedies which came to my notice without relief, I commenced the uso of SWIFTS SPECIFIC, and am happy to say that there is scarcely a vestige of the discase left. At no time in 25 years have I felt such relief and freedom from discase, and I cheerfully recommend Swift's Specific to all similarly sillicted.

Ex-PRESIDENT DAVIS is seventy-six years old. The latest news represents him as improving in health and out of danger.

An Opelika prisoner has been given a chance, though a very hard one, for his life. He has ninety-nine years of penal servitude to endure before he can come out to cut another man's throat.

GENERAL CHALMERS and Colonel Galloway are having a war of words. As each party is in that happy condition when he believes it to be the duty of the other to challenge, it is not likely that anything more gory than an ink battle will be shed.

THE reply of Governor McDaniel't . quest for a respite for Jones yesterday, was characteristic and pointed. "Let the sentence of the law be executed." The repression of crime is more than half accomplished when criminals learn that there is no escape from the leaden heel of justice.

THE czar would like to be crowned, but the nihilists continue to place obstacles in his way. It would be much better for Alexander if he would court the princely ease of a Georgia truck farmer than to waste his young life away trying to play emperor for eighty million balf-civilized Tartars.

THE case against the Cotton States life insurance company, in Bibb court, is one of wide interest. The jury held to the view that the company was bound by the representations of its agent, though they may not have been approved by the officers. A verdict was accordingly given for the plaintiff.

THE editors have taken upon themselves the responsibility of selecting a president for the next term. Charles A. Dana amused himself in San Francisco by furnishing half a dozen subjects. This emboldens Hugh Hastings to amble out into the field of prophecy, and intimates that John Kelly's cator has compared slavery to a vast universihob-nobbing with Ben Butler means a great deal more than appears on the surface.

THE AIR-LINE DAY TRAINS.

The Gainesville Eagle expresses the hope that when the new road is completed to Monroe and Social Circle, it will be able to get THE CONSTITUTION "at some reasonable hour." And yet Gainesville is only 53 miles from Atlanta. The inconvenience that the patrons of THE CONSTITUTION suffer attends all kinds of business in the vast and prosperous country between Atlanta and Charlotte, along the Air-line read. This road is a link of the shortest line between New York and New Orleans. Its managers claim that it is a part of the best route between the two great cities; and yet it is the only road leading to Atlanta that confines its passenger business to one train each way a day. From Atlanta to New Orleans two passenger trains are run each way every day. From Charlotte to Richmond two passenger trains are run each way every day. Between Charlotte and Atlanta only one is employed, although a econd train would have excellent connections at both ends of the route. This, too, on a line studded with summer resorts. This, too, in a new and developing section. Is it railroad sense to treat the people along such a line in this way-to deprive them of the facilities of travel that have much to do with the increase of their population and the development of their resources? This is cerainly not the true policy; and if the attention of Vice President Rives could be called to the subject, we believe that justice would be done to the people along the Air-Line. Mr. Rives understands the statesmanship of railroads as well as the technical details connected with their operation; and we express the hope that this new manager of the Richmond and Danville system will give the subject proper attention. We are satisfied that if he does the day trains will be restored to the road.

CHILI AND PERU.

The treaty of peace signed on the part of Chili by the Chilean minister at Lima, and proper influences, or under influences inimion the part of Peru by General Miguel Iglesias, formerly secretary of war in the cabinet of Pierola, has been accepted, and the long lies the pith of the whole business. The conwar may therefore be considered at an end. The clash of arms was ended in January, 1881, by the complete submission of Peru, but ever since that time Chili has been compelled to fight guerrila chiefs and dictators, and during the past year this kind of war has been waged | the state? Shall they be educated as the without quarter. All prisoners were immediately shot, and neither country could re- under influences inimical to the best intergain a peace footing. Chili was forced to maintain a large army, and to expend her resurces in keeping Peru under control, and Peru itself was simply in an anarchial condition outside of the military lines of Chili.

The terms of peace are not fully known, but so far as they are known they are credita- such a spirit of hate against the southble to Chili. Chili takes Tacna and Arica, decide by popular vote whether they will belong to Chili or Peru. Whichever country I tile learning on the negro mind. But every gets the provinces at the end of ten years is to pay an indemnity. Just what this indemnity includes is not known. It is thoughts preacher clinches the point that THE CONSTIhowever, that it embraces both the war expenses of Chili and the foreign claims grow- of the negro doggerel is not the result of eduprovinces contain less than 50,000 people, and and has been taught to believe that the from following that the tunnel will not be m one of them is largely settled by people from Chili. The probabilities are that both provinces will remain a part of Chili. This acquisition, together with the province taken from Bolivia, make Chili the longest and narrowest country in the world-extending from Cape Horn almost to the equator in old Peru, shut in between the frowning Cordilleras and the crawling sea.

When we consider that the war was absolutely forced upon Chili this settlement is creditable to her honor and generosity. She takes a valuable part of Peru, but still a small part, and she takes it in a truly democratic nanner. The result will however be as beneficial to Chili as to Peru, for the former needs rest and peace as much as the latter. Great prosperity is undoubtedly in store for plucky little Chili, and if Peru can rid herself of her worthless politicians and leaders she too can aspire in the course of years to a of it and give it direction. The field is a wide high place among the South American republics. She has suffered severely, and must now learn to labor and to wait. The world at large will of course rejoice over the termination of the long and wasteful war.

A TIRED EDITOR

The Columbia Sentinel, alluding to the charges against the "Atlanta ring," says: "We have heard this cry long enough. We are disgusted with such weak and childish growlings, and we hope the people of the state will view the matter as it behooves them to do and turn a deaf ear to the bickerings of politicians. Who rules Georgia? Is it a ing? No. It is absurd to say so. It is the people of the great empire state, not a few privileged ones, as some attempt to make it appear.

Our contempory of the Sentinel will hear the cry of an "Atlanta ring" as long as there are office-seekers who imagine they can deceive the people. We alluded the other day to the origin of the charge. It is kept up by ambitious men who desire to break down those in whom the people have confidence in the hopes of stepping into their shoes. The Sentinel is doubtless aware of the fact that there has been no "stepping" of this sort done in Georgia up to date, and there will be none when the people are next heard from.

There are men who, by virtue of their character, will always possess the confidence of the people, and any attempt to break them down is doomed to failure. This much is certain, but this will not prevent the small politicians and their little bevy of superfi cials from crying aloud on the outskirts of

THE REAL QUESTION

One of our esteemed state contemporaries recently declared that contact with the white man had not improved the negro. Whether this was a slip of the pen, a joke, or the result of that mental perverseness which not infrequently displays itself in print, it is impossible to say. It has been the boast of the southern people that slavery bettered the condition of the negroes by bringing them in contact with the whites and giving them an Augusta. opportunity to become civilized. Nor is it an idle boast. A distinguished northern eduty which has been the means of elevating the negroes from the condition of savages to the privileges of citizenship. All that the ne groes are, all that they can hope to be they owe to the providential institution of slavery. Some of them understand this now, and all of them will understand it later. The truth is, the difference brtween the negroes who live among us now and their ancestors who were brought to this country and sold as slaves is the difference between abso savages and those who have felt received the impulses get their disinfectants ready. an active civilization. The letter of the Rev. Mr. Tucker, of Mississippi, in which he de clared that he has no hope for the negro Pulitzer has done this very thing. race, has aroused considerable interest in both sections. This letter is to be interpreted as an attack upon the white people of Mississippi, in which state, according to Mr. Tucker, the negroes are relapsing into a condition of barbarism. Why are they not relapsing into barbarism in Georgia? We are of the opinion that Mr. Tucker is mistaken, but if he is not mistaken, then the people of Mississippi have a great responsibility resting upon them, and they should take hold of the problem promptly. They cannot afford to allow the negroes of their state to relapse into barbarism any more than they can afford to allow any other class of citizens to go to the bad. It is not a question of race or eolor; it is a question that touches the safety of the state and the welfare of society. Mr. Tucker is a minister of the gospel, and if the facts warrant his letter, he should lose no time in lending his influence and that of his church to an effort to reclaim the negroes. His commission and his calling make it his duty.

After all, the question is not one of educa tion, although the discussion has taken that direction. It is a question of what influences shall be brought to bear upon the education of the negro race. Under the law of this state, the education of the negroes will go on Old believers, as the dissenters from the established church are called. with that of the whites, and it rests with the latter whether it shall be carried on under the cal to the best interests of the state. They will be educated somehow; but how? Herein stitution and the law, aided by northern philanthropists, will provide for the educa tion of the negroes, but who is to provide the influences? Shall they be educated to hate the whites, or shall they be educated to love the old machine democrats in the New York legiswhites are educated, or shall they be brought ests'of themselves and their neighbors.

Recently, at a negro revival near Elberton a preacher, whose name we do not now re member, circulated a printed string of doggerel verses which the congregation sang with great unction. These verses breathed ern people, that a hasty and super with all their guano and nitrate deposits, for ficial view might use them as an argument a period of ten years, at the end of which against the education of the negro. #### AMASA STUNE'S FORTUNE. Gath in the Cincinnati Enquirer.

The wealth of Amasa Stone now falls into the hands, in part at least, of a young man who was bred on a farm in Illinois, of poor, plain paren:s' Possessing a sympathetic nature, good sense and talents, he fell into the way of Abraham Lincoln, who gave him a secretary's place. He remained with Mr. Lincoln during his whole term of the presidency, and was then sent to various positions in foreign countries, acquitting himself well at all of them. He was our minister virtually in France, Spain and, I think, Austria. Finally he concluded Spain and, I think, Austria. Finally he concluded to give up these honors that he had worn so well, and plunged into the hard life of the press. For a time he edited a newspaper at springfield, ill. I frequently received notes from him in those days commenting upon or encouraging publications of mine in the Chicago Tribune. At another time he returned from Europe and began to write on the New York Tribune, making his column or two every day, and lecturing a little meanwhile. Here his eyes began to fail. In this discouraged condition he met the wife of A. B. Stone, brother of the late Amsas Stone. Mrs. Stone, though her husband was reputed to be worth a million or two, admired men of mind and career. She had a blooming nicee, whom she was reputed to be worth a million or two, admired men of mind and career. She had a blooming niece, whom she introduced to him. The young lady was delighted with him, as women have been in every land. When they married he took his bride out to see his parents on the lillinois form. Persons have described to me his anxiety as to how his wife, reared in the lap of millions, would appreciate the plain homestead where he had been nested. Had she looked back but a single generation she would have seen that her own father began life as poor Joseph, the carpeuter. Colonel Hay settled down opposite his father-in-law and became a favored son. Children were born to him. Even he, in the midst of youth, felt that money is not the whole of life; and at times he has had to lay down his little portion of the heavy load that Ammas Stone carried of inevitable, inexemble business. He was on one of these journeys to recruit his health when his father-in-law passed away.

WORK FOR THE NEGRO.

From the Thomasville Enterprise.

We, then, to make of the negro a truly useful ears old, stands or walks as erect as a man of half citizen, must give him perhaps such a school education as his necessities require, but we must place ahead of this an education which will improve him industrially and morally. He has a great many good points, as was abundantly shown n the south during the late war. Then he was entirely in charge not only of his master's interests, but of his master's family as well, and the remarkable faithfulness with which he proved true to his trusts must ever be remembered with gratitude and affection. The recollection of this, and flower the other night, whereat people talk. But they do not add that it was a charitable entertain ment and that the money went for the "greatest of these." Mrs. Astor every year sends a colony of poor boys and girls to the west, and gives away thousands of dolbars besides. zens labor for his advancement. The views we have expressed are forced upon us from no ill feeling to the negro, but by the observation of his progress since the war, and by what we know by experience of his character. Fred Douglass's "absorption theory" is all worse than bosh. He is no true teacher of his race. To make anything of our colored citizens they must be instructed by, and under the leadership of white men, and our part to them, as to ourselyes, is to teach them what they ought to do, and that their future lies in doing their whole duty faithfully and well, in that sphere of life in which it has pleased the Almighty to call them.

"The story is perfectly ridiculous. I am very fond of the fishing down in Florida, and recently I bought a tract of land along the coast, so that I might have a place to go #fishing. The tract is nothing more than a sandy beach. I do not believe that an orange tree would grow there." The story which comes from Florida, bearing the indorsement of reputable people, is that Messrs. #### The Old Ticket. ington Letter Cincinnati Enquirer.

In a recent conversation with intimate persona friends Mr. Tilden has expressed decidedly his reluc tance to be a candidate for the presidency in 1884. Notwithstanding this, there are significant indications of a strong movement in favor of nominating tions of a strong movement in favor of nominating the old ticket of Tilden and Hendricks. It is known that Mr. Tilden and Mr. Hendricks are both fully restored to health, and the plan of bringing small men ferward by pretending that these really great men are broken down in health will not work. Neither of them wants the nomination, but it is believed that both are capable of making the sacrifice of personal convenience in obedience to the demands of the party. The feeling toward Tilden in democratic circles is very friendly, and there is a general conviction that, if nominated, his election would be certain. Hendricks's nomination ion would be certain. Hendricks's nomination would insure Indiana, and give good hope for other western states.

A Dentist Tells a Queer Story.

From the New York Morning Journal. 'Why," said a prominent dentist to a Journal reorter, "a beautiful young lady came to me and insisted on having her really fine teeth pulled out and false ones put in their place. I protested that and false ones put in their place. I protested that it would be foolish, silly, senseless; but she said no, she would have them out, and if I would not do it some other dentist would. 'My teeth are not fashfonable,' said she, 'they are too long, and short little broad teeth like corn kernels are all the fashion now and no one admires my mouth and I will have them.' So I made her the teeth, and they cost her just $300. She couldn't see any one for two weeks after I pulled out her own. They were the upper ones only, and I made them up with gold plates for a handsome young fellow who had his own teeth knocked out in a base ball game. The worst of it is that he is in love with this very girl whose teeth he wears, and she knows they are hers. Just ponder on that.'

IMPERIAL SOCIALISM IN GERMANY. The Emperor's Proclamation to the Working

We, William, by the grace of God, emperor of Germany, king of Prussia, etc., hereby declare and make known: -We have always recognized it asone of the first of our duties as emperor to give as great attention and consideration to the condition of the working class in our whole empire as that which was brought to bear on reform at the commence-ment of the present century by our tather now resting with God. We, our elves, too, have especially met this obligation since the publication of the socialist law, when we expres ed our conviction that legislation should not be restricted to police and penal measures for the suppression of ions dangerous to the state, but that we must try to introduce referms exercising a healing or at least a emitigating influence, and tendworkingmen by improving ing to benefit their position and rendering it more certain. To this conviction we gave special expression in our message of the 17th of November, 1881, and rejoiced that as the first result of our efforts in this direction we have abolished the two lower grades of taxable incomes. Thankful for the unanimous of our officials, we have seen in the way of imperial legislation the commencement of the work of re form so far advanced, that at the beginning of the present session it was possible to lay the accident in-surance bill before the reichstag in a new form, reshaped in accordance with previous negotiations.

and completed by a oll for the reorganization of the workmen's sick fund, Ever since then we have followed the work of the reichstag on these proposals with special attention, and have willingly lent a hand to facilitate the work as far as possible, it being our wish and confident hope that this session of the reichstag should not end without the passing of these bills. We also recognized with satisfaction that the serious work does by the reichstag in the restance. not end without the passing of these bills. We also recognized with satisfaction that the serious werk done by the reichstag in the matter of the sick fund bill had already advanced tils part of its tasks of a that the fulfillment of our expectatious could scarcely be any longer in doubt. We observe, how ever, with apprehension that the more important accident insurance bill has not yet made any further advance. Hence its early passing is not to be calculated on with the same certainty. It this bill should not now be passed, the hope that the further bills for the relief of the aged and invalided workmen could be passed next session must be entirely dismissed if the deliberations on the imperial budget of 1884-85 should also claim the time and attention of the reichstag during the winter session. We have, therefore, thought it necessary to request the consent of the confederate governments to allow the proposals of the budget of 1884-80 be now laid again before the reichstag. Because, if the accident insurance bill, as is to be feared, can not be dealt with and passed in the present spring session of the reichstag, yet by the previous consideration of next year's budget, the house, for the winter session at any rate, will gain that freedom from other undelayable business, which is necessary to carry through practical social-political reforms. Time is wanted for this purpose. Our imperial duties require us to leave no means within our power untried to improve the situation of workmen and the peace of different classes of the population, so long as God give us respite. Therefore, will we again by this our message, trustfully call upon the deep and approved loyalty of the reichstag to the emperor and empire especiality to lay to heart the specified.

THE RAILROADS.

CROSS-TIE GOSSIP IN AND OUT OF ATLANTA RAILROAD CIRCLES.

The Short Line Between Louisville and Knoxville Contest at Burningham-English Capital-is's in Fiorids-General Notes.

THERE is talk of removing the Cartersville car works to Atlanta.

About thirty-five Atlanta people are booked JOSEPH W. WHITE, general traveling passenger agent of the Georgia and of the South Carolina

PROSPECTING continues among the old gold mines along the Georgia Pacific. Good prices have recently been offered for yeins long Leglected, which it was supposed would never be worked COLUMBUS SENTINEL: The new engine built at the Georgia railroad shops went up the road Monday as far as Thomson, and behaved itself beautifully. Quite a number from Augusta honored it with their presence.

MR. E. C. SPALDING, car accountant of the Western and Atlantic railroad company, left yesterday via Cincinnati Southern and Lake Shore routes, to attend an important mileage convention, which meets in Philadelphia on the 22d instant. THE increasing business on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia will soon make it between Rome and Atlanta, Other stations between Atlanta and Macon may also soon be located HAMILTON ENTERPRISE: The narrow gauge has carried to Columbus 1,500 bales of cotton less to date this season than for the corresponding time of ast season. Two months ago the shortage was over 2,000, and it is thought that a slight advance in the price of the staple would close the gap still Some of the illustrated books given away by western lines this season cost as high as 90 cents apiece. Of course they are not promiscuously thrown around, but thousands of them are placed in the hands of agents for free distribution. Rail-road advertising is far heavier this season than it ever was before. SUPERINTENDENT FLEMING, of the Savannah Florida and Western, will open a temporary office in Valdosta, to be in the heart of the fruit country and direct the enormous shipments from that section to the west. His road has made especial preparations for the swift and advantageous handling of the fruit crop. THE Knoxville people propose to-celebrate the opening of the Knexville and Ohio road by inviting the leading men of Louisville to visit their city. The celebration will probably take place after June 4, when, in Major O'Brien's words, "trains will be running from Warm Springs through Knoxville to Louisville without change."

GWINNETT HERALD: If the road from Athens to Jug Tavern is built we have no doubt the gap between Lawrenceville and the terminus of the Athens line will be speedily filled, and Athens will not only retain her trade, but a new and shorter route to Atlanta will be secured. At least twenty-five miles can be saved by connecting at this point with the branch road to the Air Line.

THE American association of nurserymen. florists and seedsmen will hold their annual meet ing at St. Louis, Missouri, commencing Wedner day, June 20th, 1833. Excursion tickets will be sold by the Kennesaw route June 17th and 18th, good to return on or before July 1st, at $22.75 the round trip. Delegates and others desiring to attend this convention should advise Mr. B. W. Wrenn as in no way controls our narrow gauge, and that of the president and twelve directors twelve of them the president and twelve directors twelve of them live in Gainesville or on the line of road; surely twelve cut of thirteen can control it. Even did the Georgia road control it it would be to Gainesville's interest, that is very manifest. Two powerful monopolies such as the Richmond and Danville, and Central systems would exert themselves to the utnost to secure our traffic. Neither road could force our business men to ship' freights over their respective routes, and the greatest competitor would secure our trade. A cutting of rates can be expected when our new road is completed, and Gainesville can get as cheap rates as any town in Georgia.

The railroads at Birmingham seem to be a little mixed over the right to use a strip of land about 1,500 yards long and 35 feet wide, running from the Birmingham relling mills in a northeasterly direction into the city.

Twelve years ago, the Flyton Land company and the South and North and Alabama Great Southern railroads entered into a tripartite agreement, in which the land company set aside certain property known as the "railroad reservation," which was to be donated to any railroads coming to Birmingham.

and Gainesville can get as cheap rates as any town in Georgia.

Ferdinand Phinizy, of Athens, the greatest railroad magnate in Georgia and no friend to Gainesville, openly expressed his opinion in our city not long since, that this road would be of more importance to our town than the Air Line has ever been. Our business men all think likewise despite the fears of our neighbor, the S. uthron.

Athens' Great Effort.

From the Athens Banner.
There are two systems of railways in the southa broad and a narrow-gauge. One will control the bulkier business; the other fill up the gaps between rectly and indirectly, will be thoroughly examined into - and the opportunity of the system to earn money extended wherever it shall be found advisable so to do. The general offices, depots, and shops at the end of the line were inspected vesterday, and found to be in most excellent condition. Colonel Scatt, Mr. Schiff thinks, has exhibited great executive ability and a thorough knowledge of the science of transportation in the management of the syndicate's property, and is of the opinion that their American in vestment will prove to be one of the best ventures that European capital has ever been put into.

From the Mobile Register. The government is now at work clearing out the Cahaba, and the appropriation already available will open it up to good navigation a considerable distance above Cahaba. In all probability the fund will not be exhausted before the next corgress supplements it so far as to permit the work to go on without interruption until we have an open channel up to Centerville—a point which will oe within easy distance of fron and coal There are two obstacles in the way of navigation. One is the railroad bridge of the twenty-mile road running out from selma, knows as the selma and New Orleans road, and which is now in the chancery court at Selma. The other is the railroad bridge of the Alabama Central, a road running from Selma to Meridian, and now forming a link of the East Teenessee and Virginia combination, of which Mr. Gould is said to have resently secured control. These two bridges have no draws and are so low as not to permit the passage of steamboats. The question how arises, how the roads shall be compelled to clevate the bridges or put in draws. Of course they will not do so voluntarily. At least we presume that they will not, as the change will entail some cost, and one of the roads being in chancery, is not in condition to go the expense will entail some cost, and one of the roads being in chancery, is not in condition to go the expense, if it were so inclined. We want these changes made before the incoming season of business. If they are made before september Mobile can get a very considerable number of bales of cotton from the Cahaba, and can open up a very profitable trade with that region.

Chattanooga's Trade.

From the Chattanooga Times. Captain John S. Cleghorn, Thompson Hiles, and D. F. Allgood, of Chattooga county, Georgia, the to poison the entire family of five persons. The gir latter the president of the Trion manufacturing company, arrived in the city yesterday, as a committee appointed by the road commissioners to confer with the officials of the Alabama Great Southern railroad and the Chattanooga board of trade, in reference to the building of a good dirt road from Summerville to Valley Head, whereby they hope to send their trade to Chattanooga. They have here-tofore sent all their trade to Rome, and the Trion factory shipped all its goods to that point, but exhorbitant tolis were exacted by the bridges leading to the city, and such little encouragement was given in freight rates out of Rome that the people of the county have almost risen en masse for a good thoroughlere to Chattanooga, where superior advantages are offered.

Their chief object of conferring with the Alabama Great Southern railroad is to receive a good rate of reight from Valley Head and to repair eight miles of the road on Lookout; the road from the base of Lookout to Valley Head is already built, and they propose to build the road from Summerville to the top of the mountain. They desire the board of trade to understand how importand their trade will be to Chattanooga and hope to induce that body to use its influence with the railroad company to give the assistance.

If the road is built Chattanooga will receive $300, railroad and the Chattanooga board of trade, in the assistance.

If the road is built Chattanooga will receive $300,000 trade annually, beside all the trade of the Trien factory and several thousand bales of cotton,

English Capitalists in Florida. New York, May 15 .- The interest taken by English capitalisis in Florida land enterprises is attracting considerable attention here. A Contest at Birmingham.

The railroads at Birmingham seem to be a little

Twelve years ago, the Elyton Land company and the South and North and Alabama Great Southern railroads entered into a tripartite agreement, in which the land company set aside certain property known as the "railroad reservation," which was to be donated to any railroads coming to Birmingham, which should build their depots and machine shops upon the land.

In the original agreement in 1871, between the land company and the railroads, it was provided that the Elyton land company should reserve a strip of land 25 feet wide throughout the entire property, lying on either side of the right of way of the Alabama Great Southern railway, as a common right of way for all railroads that should enter Birmingham. A further condition of the agreement was that the South and North should be allowed to use the right of way of the Alabama Great Southern upon which the track of the former was originally laid.

Two years ago, but one of the roads, the South and North, having complied with the condi-

a broad and a narrow-gauge. One will control the bulkier busines; the other fill up the gasp between the main lines. One is about as important as the other. Gainesville has seen the need of this latter system, and is ambitious to become the hub upon which fivill revolve in Georgia. Hence you see these lines leading out in every direction from that point. These narrow-gauge roads are to a city what the smaller arteries are to the heart. If a town falls to have these feeders she may as well gates. A short line of twenty-two miles will pour the trade of this new system into our lap. In face, we can reap a full share of the benefits of the thousands expended by rival points at a very small individual outlay. But let us depend solely on the two roads that now enter our city. In time they will certainly be connected, and then Allabam of the wor roads will be laid be beind the fire. A gloom of desolation will settle upon us, and from a place of the grandest possibilities will we elspse into "one of the dead towns of Georgia." Let every person interested in the fure of Athens put his shoulder to the wheel and oh his best. We only now lack $12.009 of making this count of the swall own lands as the Changer System.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18 .- A thousand cases of opium arrived by the steamer from China, the du ties on which amount to $150,000. Of the 450 Chinese who arrived on the City of Tokio, 330 go to Victoria to work on the railroad. The Rio de Janeiro, which sailed for China yesterday, carried 250 Chinese, most of them provided with certificates. With this as a showing of the working of the Chinese law it may be stated, that during the first four months of 1882, 1,130 Chinese arrived here, and during the same period this year 1,500.

New York. May 18 .- An action in admiralty was begun to-day in the United States district court by Edward S. BY ADVERTISEMENTS FALSIFYING DR. PRICE'S

Unprincipled attempts are made by competitors who beast of their intertion to obtain possession of the entire Baking Powder business, and force the community of housekeepers by undervaluing Dr. Price's Powder, to use their own inferior Compounds, advertising their own as absolutely Pure, and Dr. Price's of no comparative value, when DR. PRICE'S CREAK BAKING POWDER has been in use for years and is known to be SUPERIOR IN STRENGTH; SUPERIOR IN PURITY; SUPERIOR IN WHOLESOME. NESS; to prove the truthfulness of this assertion, let it be tested in the kitchen, in the family loaf, by the consumer's only true test - 2008

It is natural that consumers should look with no little degree of sussicion upon a commodity that seeks for favor and sale by misrepresentation of other competing productions. There are three classes of persons campatent to speak of the relative merits of baking powders. A nation of housekeepers who have used Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder for years can speak from experimental knowledge and pronounce it the best. Eminent Charleta speak of its purity and effective force from repeated analysis that had been made from year to year since its introduction. Physicians treating the guestion'as one of hygiene, speak in favor of Dr. Price's, for when we eat broad raised with it we are eating wheat flour in all its nutritious efficiency.

While Mrs. Shel-Mrs. Pleas Shelman visited the father of the former, near Cartersville. While Mrs. Shelman was standing on the corridor awaiting the return of her husband, who had gone with his brother Robert to look at a wheat field, a canary bird lit on her shoulder. The unexpected suddenness of the transaction somewhat frightened her, when she knocked it off her shoulder. The bird, not discouraged, lit on Mrs. Shelman's head. The second time she dislodged it, but on discovering that it was a canary bird she made an effort and succeeded in capturing it. It had escaped from some cage and hunger had influenced it to make friendly overtures to Mrs. Shelman, whose beauty is enough to attract sweet songsters, as well as mankind particularly. Mrs. Shelman brought the canary home with her, and to her glad surprise she finds it to be a beautiful singer.

An Old Paper,

From the Gainesville, Ga., Eagle.

We have before us a copy of the Southern Banner, published in Athens in 1840. It is a small six column paper, subscription $4 per year. It did the legal advertising of all the countries in this section of the state. Hall country's sherif sales were much larger then than now, with probably less than one-tent the number of inhabitants. We find that R. H. Waters was sherift of our country; J. N. Murray was clerk of the superfor court; D. The paper is entirely devoid of local news not a town happening or incident being published; the paper being entirely filled with politics. It is indeed a curiosity for young Latest-As to Mary's Lamb. Mary had a little lamb, Its fleece was black as ink, And Mary had dyspepsia so She couldn't steep a wink.

She suffered both by night and day With pains and aches, until her Kind friends suggested she should take P. Davis's Pain Killer.

It quickly turned dyspepsia out
And made her good as new,
And just the way that Mary did
Should all dyspeptics do.

NEW YORK, May 18.—There was a better feeling in the stock market than for some days past. It opened 1/8 to 3/4 per cent below yesterday's close, but | Galveston . during most of the first hour, though irregular, the general tendency was upward, and the result was an advance of 1/8 to 1/8 per cent, led by Western Union and Wabash—afterward Wabash reacted and the rest of the list a fraction, after which the market became strong, with an occasional fractional reaction, and sold up to the close, the ! ad-Southwestern stocks, Pacific Mail, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and Western Union were most conspicuous. The market closed generally strong, at an advance on the day of 1/4 to 11/4 per cent, the latter for Texas Pacific and Western Union. Transactions aggregated 360,000 shares.

The charge was made because Quarterman was found sleeping in a vacant house on Pacchtree street, but when the evidence was heard the defendant was dismissed. Immediately upon his release, however, Quarterman was again arrested. This time his arrest was due to City Marshal Joyner, who wants him to pay street tax or work it out on the streets.

MRS. BIXLEY is an old lady and resides alone on Ezzard street. Early yesterday, morning when Mrs. Bixley awoke she was astonished to find things scattered about her room, as she always kept things neat and tidy. THE SOUTH AND EDUCATION. Complimentary Invitation to State School Commis-stoner Orr-Teachers' Institute This Summer. An evidence of the high regard in which State school Commissioner Orr is held among the leading educators of the country is furnished in a letter recently written to him by J. C. Hartzell. This gen tlemen is the conductor of the second 'annual meeting of the national educational assembly. The assembly will meet at Ocean Grove, N. J., on the 9th of August and continue in session through the 12th. Among the speakers booked for the occasion are many of the leading educators and prominent men identified with educational move-ments. General Eaton, Fishops Simpson and Warren Governor Pattison, ex-President Hayes, Dr Granite crossings are being laid on the extreme end of Whitehall street. The street has been macademized from Humphreys street below Hood, but nothing further is being done just now.

Sheriff Morton, of a North Carolina county, passed through Atlanta yesterday en route home from Texas. He had in custody a main named Jasper who killed a negro about three years ago.

Annie Howard, a six-year old daughter of Mr William Howard, who lives on Richardson In addition, all the general educational secretaries orr has been invited to be followed by shorter addresses by such men as Seuator Blair, the author of the bill before the last congress to extend national aid to education. The compliment was highly appreciated by Dr. Orr, and it was his carnest desire to accept the invitation of the assembly. After carefully considering it, however, he felt it his duty to decline. He has written to Mr. Hartzell expressing his deep regret that circumstances make this action appear in the light of a duty that cannot be disregarded. The occasion to which he was invited would not only have been pleasant to Dr. Orr. but would have given him a fine opportunity to speak for the educational interests of the south, as few men can speak on that question. The real reason why he has declined to go to Ocean Grove is because he feels that there is a great work requiring his constant attention in Georgia. At the time the assembly meets the legislature will be in session, and bills of very great importance to the public school system will be pending before that body. The commissioner has been sucaking all over the state trying to convince the people that some such measures as those pending ought to be passed to make the schools more efficient. He has not been discouraged by repeated failures to secure from legislatures what is asked, and is very hopeful that the summer session will bring some aid to the schools that are keptin operation for their prescht limited periods only by the strictest economy. Besides this Dr. Orr has about determined to hold the Teachers' Institutes in the month of August. The legislature has never given one cent to aid this euseful institutions. They are supplied by the Peabody fund to all the states of the south. Their value to the cause of education is appreciated by all who have seen them in operation. Last year Teachers' Institutes were held in Toccoa, in Milledgeville, and in Americus. Each of them was largely attended by teachers from all parts of the state are grown to the result of the state and Dr. Orr is try at Milledgeville finely suited to such a school. Dr. Orr has done much towards bringing the attention of the Peabody fund trustees and of the agent to a kindly consideration of Georgia as the locality of the cormal school. He is now consulting with the trustees of the Middle Georgia Agricultural and Mechanical college on the provisions of the pending bill as to the use of the state's buildings, etc., at Milledgeville.

The venerable commissioner has his hands and his head quite full in attempting to secure so many advantages to Georgia, but it appears to be as much a labor of love as any work can be, and he is hopeful of large results.

Orphan's Home.
Editor Reese, of the Eatonton Chronicle, visited Decatur Orphans' home last week, and was de-lighted with the home, the children and the manhas given his consent for the club to use the grounds his summer, and it is likely improvovements, such a gement. #### LACROSSE.

Gam: Yesterday by the Atlanta Club-A Tilt Be-tween the "White Hats" and "Red Cape," in Which the Former Carry off the Hotly Contested Honors-Points of Note.

A goodly crowd of ladies and gentlemen assem bled yesterday afternoon at the Ormond grove to witness the game of la crosse. The grove is a natural amphitheatre and the La Crosse club could have selected no better place for their game. The hillside is covered with an abundance of fine shade trees and at the foot of the hill a platteau broad enough ini, 1883, for the game spreads itself out. Those who wer out yesterday afternoon were among the best peo-ple of Atlanta, and their smiles and applause testified to their appreciation of the efforts of the young gentlemen constituting the club to afford them an hour's pleasure. The club was organized about two years ago and is now playing its second season. ts members are all young, strong, active busines Its members are all young, strong, active business men of the city. They are gentlemen of good social position, and readily draw a crowd of the best people in the city to witness their trials of skill and swiftness, both elements entering largely into the game. The contending factions yesterday evening were captained by Mr. Joseph J. Eckford and Mr. J. D. McCarthy. There were ten players on either side, and many evinced quite a skill in the game. They were all uniformed alike, except as to the head gear. Their uniform consisted of blue knee pants, red stockings, low quartered shoes and red belts. Captain Eckford's ten wore—white hats, while Captain. McCarthy's side wore red caps. By the cap and hat the players were distinguished as they glided swiftly over the field, bearing the rubber ball in their "LaCrosse," making an effort to "bst" it through their goal. At 5½ o'clock the game was called by the referce, Mr. R. C. Johnson, Mr. R. A. Hancock had been chosen by Captain Eckford as umpire, and he stood beside the goal which his captain wanted to reach. By the opposite party Mr. J. M. McNaught had been selected as umpire, and he guarded the goal his a tversaries desired to avert. When the game began the players were arranged as follows:

White hats—Jos. J. Eckford, captain, center; Charles L. McLendon, goal; E. Smith, point; R. M. Ormond, cover point; J. H. Lovejoy, fielder; H. A. Young, fielder; Toxeph J. Eckford, center: D. C. Beck, fielder; Charles Beardsley, home; W. T. Spalding, home.
Captains/Eckford and McCarthy stood half way between the goals with the ball—an eight inch rubber—upon the ground between them, and at the word from the referee they began the contest. The ball finally bounded from its prison—the "La-Crosse"—in which it was held, and went flying towards the white hat's goal. Soon a red cap man picked it up and sent it coursing over the ground in the opposite direction, and thus the game went on for twenty-flye minutes during which time there was much swift running and easy handling of the La Crosse and the ball displayed by both sides. The first game was won by the White Hats, and the loud applause from the ladies testified their pleasure. Then a brief rest was had and a second tilt was begun. This lavted about twenty minutes and again the White Hats conquered, as they did also in the third game in fifteen minutes. The game closed about half-past six and the crowd went home well satisfied with the evening's fun.

THE FRUIT GROWERS.

Preparation for the Meeting of the State Associati on the 24th of May.

The Fruit Growers' convention, which is to as emble here, promises to be a very important affair. A number of transportation companies will be on hand to talk to the fruit growers about the best way to handle the crop. Some important matters are to be discussed. It is expected that there will be a good attendance, and all the railroads have re duced the rates for the benefit of those who will ome. The Richmond and Danville will bring members of the association at the low rate of a cent mile each way, two cents for the round trip. The a mile cach way, two cents for the round trip. The Savannah, Florida and Western and the South Carolina roads will make, they say, the usual reduction, which is supposed to mean one fare for the round trip. The Central and its branches, with the Georgia road, will charge full fare coming and return the delegates for a cent a mile. The East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia road will charge four cents a mile for the round trip. The Western and Atlantic and the West Point roads have not yet announced the rates that they will charge.

Matilda Simms, a laundress, was given a cell last night by Captain Couch and Stationhouse Keeper Buchanan. Some days ago a warrant charging her with larceny was received by Chief Couolly. It came from Spartanburg, S.-C., and charged her with stealing fifty dollars worth of sheets, linea, etc., from hotel in that place. The officers mentioned succeeded in locating her yesterday, and now she awaits the arrival of a South Cartolina official who will escort her back to the scene of her misdeeds. The prisoner-fignifies a willingness to return without a requisition. She alleges that she was given the goods by a white lady.

The Day's Doings Among the Breakers of the Law—A Lively List of Happenings.

John Jones, brick mason, colored, whose heme is on Clarke street, was given a fatal cut last night by Tom Murray. There was a supper in Peaseville and Jonesand Murray were in attendance. During the evening they fell out and came near fighting, but friends interferred and peace was restored. About midnight Jones left for his bome and Murray followed him. When near the corner of Clarke and Frazier streets Murray overtook Jones and the quarrel was renewed. Blows followed and in the fight Murray used his knife with an almost fatal effect upon Jones giving "three ugly gashes. One gash is about three inches long and is above the right eye, another is across the right temple and the third is down the back of his neck. Officers Phillips and Lyman, who were drawn to the locality by the noise, carried Jones to his house, where he now is in an exceedingly critical condition. Murray, after Jones fell to the ground, took to his heels for Summer hill, and although he was closely pursued he escaped.

At the same supper in Peaseville at which this

At the same supper in Peaseville at which this row originated, John Henry Parks, the negro desperado, declared himself the best man in the state. A six-foot Carolina darkey denied the assertion and the supper was broken up by the row which ensued. After whipping the Carolina darkey, John Henry Parks left.

A Baptist Featival. The festival at 46 Peachtree street, given under the auspices of the ladies of the Third Baptist church is meeting with much success. Last night it was well attended, and so far is a financial success. Funds are being raised for the erection of a new church, the work on which will be commenced new church, the atan early day.

est and last night the attendance was large and the company was composed of the society element of Atlanta. Many ladies were present richly attired, their dazzling dresses almost rivalling the brilliant costumes of the merry-makers. At mine o'clock the handsome procession entered the hall. There was a flutter of admiration as Mr. Archie Gregory as the Silver King, and Miss Carrie Crane as the Queen, entered, Professor Agostini's pretty little son Frank acting as page and bearing the crown. The costumes were exceedingly rich and tasteful. Following were Mr. Walter Inmans Louis XIV. and Miss Isma Dooley as the Queen. They were much admited and were accompanied by a full court of ladies and gentlemen. The procession was a long one and as it continued to pour into the hall to the time of a march played by Mr. Henry Robson there was a general verdict of admiration. There were several characters that attrasted especial attention. Master Tom Austin and Master Sim Post as "Two Dudes" made a decided hit. Ben Conley as Dick Deadeye and Miles Turpin as Captain Corcoran were decidedly good. Mr. Will Drake, as Old Jack Joe, was good; Miss Lillie Inman, as the Sleeping Beauty, was excellent; Mr. Allie Reuneau and Miss Mary Marsh, made a good Romeo and Juliet. Miss Annie Lee Price, as one of the several fairies, attracted much attention. Master Walter Agostini made a good Raipa Rakestraw. When the procession had entered the hall, Mr. Robson gave the plano up to Professor J. H. Denck, whose playing 'added much to the enjoyment of the evening. One of the best features of the entertrinment was the roller skating of Mr. A. E. Estabrook, one of the finest fancy skaters in the country. Many times he secured a burst of appliance and at no juncture did the audience lose interest in the skaking. The entertainment was closed with several hours dancing, which was much enjoined by all who were present.
